SUM WEDVESDAY JULY 20, 1895

Rain put an end to the game at the Polo the New lorks were one run ahead of the Louis-villes. The locals were fortunate in winning, for the Pittsburgs, who play them to-day, took a ball from the Bostons in clever style. The Brooklyns won rather easily from the St. Louis allenders, making three victories out of four games, which shows what an easy matter it was for the Harlemites to take four straight from Hurst's men last week. The Brooklyns, by the way, are close behind the Philadelphias. and may overhaul them if the coming series with Louisville can be grabbed off by Ebbets's men. Boston's defeat enabled the Clevelands, who walloped the Washingtons, to approach to within ten points. Rain stopped the Cincinpati-Philadelphia game after two innings had been played. It also prevented the Chicago-

The smallest crowd of the season saw the gew Yorks defeat the Louisvilles at the Polo Grounds yesterday. There were about 250 persons present and they were disappointed when an put an end to what was a most interesting contest at the end of the first half of the sixth inning. Dexter scored Louisville's only run in the first inning, when his forced Hoy, took second on Wagner's long fly to Doyle, stole third and raced home when G. Davis dropped a threw to nail H. Davis, who had received a base on balls. Dark clouds had come up meanwhile and when the New Yorks took their turn it was impossible to see the ball, so Umpire Swartwood sailed time and a delay of ten minutes ensued. When play was resumed both Rusie and Cunningham were so, effective that neither team could make a run until the last half of the fourth. Then Tierman opened with a corking three-bagger to left and tied the score on a single by Joyce, it was raining steadily when the fifth began, but the players hurried matters. Kitridge mude a double with two out and was left. In New York's half, after Hartman had flied to Dexter, Cunningham began to ose control of the wet ball and gave a base on balls handed to Tiernan and Joyce filled the bags, and a wild pitch let Grady reach the plate with what proved to be the winning run. In spite of the drenching rain, which sent all the speciators to cover, the Louisvilles took their sixth inning and had men on second and third with two out when Tiernan caught Carke's long drive near the left field sears.

PITTSBURG, 6; BOSTON, 5. Borros, July 10.—Pittsburg won to-day's game and broke even on the series through poor work by Riobedanz in the third inning, when they made four runs. Lewis, who relieved him, pitched good ball. Gardner was very effective at critical points and Boston was unable to overcome the Firates' lead. The score:

BIG UPSET IN THE CHIEF HANDICAP

Jockey Maher Improves His Percentage with Three Straight Wins-Endeavor and Ben Viking Score at Long Odds-Three Favorites Pull Through for the Faithful. The regulars who turn out consistently, rain or shine," were the only people in evidence at Brighton Beach yesterday afternoon, but still the muster reached as high as 2,000. It was a big slump from the previous day's gathering, and the threatening atmospheric outlook was probably responsible. Thunder clouds hung over the track throughout the afternoon, and an occasional flash of lightning threatened a summer storm, but the rain fortunately held aloof until the card had been run through. The day opened disastrously for the talent, and form players failed to eash up to the third race. They went wide of the mark again on the fourth race, but picked the last two winners and started for home about even after a trying ordeal. Followers of Maher were in their glory. as Joyner's little jockey landed three firsts and a second out of five mounts. An admirer of Danny who arrived on the track after the third race invested $5 on his favorite jockey and put up all the proceeds to the end, with the result that he left off a $300 winner.

The big event of the day was the fourth race

a handleap for three-year-olds and upward, with $1,000 added, at six furlongs. Five of the nine starters were played, the favorite being Isidor at 5 to 2. Royal Stag and Sanders were also in strong demand, but Orion at 12 to 1 came through the bunch like a streak in the last furlong, and won by a head from Sanders. Royal Stag finished third, a length back, and Isidor, after making most of the running, wound up a moderate fourth. The "Copper King's" star sprinter went very lame after-wound up a moderate fourth. The "Copper King's" star sprinter went very lame afterward, and will hardly be a prominent factor for some time to come. Orion was ridden in rare style by Maher, and his victory was heartly applauded, although few played him.

The handloap for two-year olds brought out a small field of six, with Hare Perfume first choice and Mugginsnext in demand. The favorite showed the way after the first furlong, with Jean Ingelow and Bubject in close pursuit. They finished in this order at intervals of three-quarters of a length. Hurricane just missed show money by a head.

A typical Brighton Beach supprise rolled home in the first race. Concord, Swamp Angel and Forget were played to finish as written, but Endeavor, at 30 to 1, gailoped over the tot in the stretch, and won by half a length from "Dry Dollar" Sullivan's Debride. Gun Metai, another outsider, finished third, while the good things were lost in the shuffle. Some of the boys caused trouble at the post, and Coylle, O'Leary and O'Connor were fiped $25 each. Ben Viking proved too fast for the favorite in the second race, and, after leading all the way, beat her a head.

In the third race, for which only four horses went to the post, the starter had his hands full, as Nosey went crazy and tried to take Hamilton over the fence. Whistling Con, and Merlin took turns at spoiling breaks, and Longacre showed no inclination to race. They were finally sent off in line, and Whistling Con, the hot favorite, made the running. Longacre headed him off at the half distance and looked like bringing off another supprise, but Nosey, who was rank throughout, swerved from the inner rail in the stretch and carried Longacre with him. Whistling Con, with clear running, won by a length from Nosey, but the Meddler colt was subsequently disqualified, and the official placing was Whistling Con, the meeting.

Continental at odds on won the last race all the way and crossed the line two lengths in front of Her Own, who beat Charentus a length, Doggett was close up. Ex

"M and M" Contest Postponed. DETROIT, July 19 .- A heavy rain this morning placed the track in poor shape, and it tool six hours to get it in condition. As the weather cleared up by the time racing began a large crowd was present. The "M and M" $10,000 stake race was the special feature on the programme, but owing to the lateness of starting the races the star event was postponed until the races the star event was postponed until to-morrow. The unfinished 2:04 pace was called at 4:30 o'clock. Bubenstein was the favorite, Bumps second choice, while Frank Bogash had only a few followers. The three horses got a good start. Rubenstein quickly led, but Frank Bogash held closely to the favorite's side. It was a pretty race between the two until the homestretch was reached, when Bogash went ahead and finished in front by a nose.

Saratooa, July 19.—J. A. Bennett's stable of twelve horses, twelve of the Fleischmann string, and thirteen of P. J. Dwyer's, arrived last night and were quartered at Horse Haven, the equine suburb of the Saratoga Racing Association's track. At the Haven there are now 350 pieces of time horseflesh, thirty stables being represented. This is the largest number quartered here at this season for many years. A large percentage of the fiyers now here will participate in the meeting soon to open, and the others will recuperate for racing on other tracks. There is every indication that the Saratoga meeting will be a pronounced success.

been made, and the pair caused a lot of gaping as they proceeded. In front of a large office building near Wall street, where he had his rooms, they stopped and dismousted. The woman looked fresh and was smiling, but the man was haggard from work and worriment. While his wife was inside the corridor of the building he mopped his brow and said to a friend who shook his hand and complimented him on his chivairy:

"Say, Bert, we have ridden that way from Yonkers down. I want to make it next, but I don't know what is trumps. If she sticks to that wheel I will have to buy another. If I try to quit riding it is a harder play than ever, because now she is suited and won't give it up. I'll buy a new wheel for myself and won't say a word, but I'll tell, you. If she wants to wear bloomers on that diamond frame, then look out for—Yes, dear. I'm coming." Neither the Chairman of the State Racing Board Nor the Harlem Wheelmen Make Out a Strong Case Before the Committee -Falling Off in L. A. W. Membership. When A. D. Wait, member of the National Racing Board and Chairman of the State Racing Board, came to town on Monday to appear at the first session of the committee appointed to investigate his methods of granting sanctions he used rare discretion in regard to what documents he left behind. Under the cross-examination of Counsellor House it was discovered that he was the possessor of a large amount of missing documents, missing besause Wait did not have them with him. In a session that lasted until after midnight it was shown that neither side had a very strong case. The Hariem Wheelmen, although aided by the testimony of outside promoters, could not show that Wait had explicitly promised to protect other sanction for the date and on the other and Wait could not satisfactorily account for the second sanction that he granted. An in-teresting statement made by Wait was that every association of track owners and promo-ters had applied to him for a blanket sanction for all the untaken dates between May 1 and Oct. 1. In his own discretion he did not grant them. The application for a sanction on June 18, however, he considered that he was obliged to grant, because he had no discretion in such cases. Counsellor House referred to a letter sent to Wait by President Potter, and asked the Racing Board member if in that letter Potter had not requested Wait to withdraw the sanction for Ambrose Park. Wait replied that Potter had requested him not to divulge any of the contents of the letter, and therefore he would decline to answer. Some correspondence between Chief Consul Jenkins and Chairman Wait that the committee considered important was not at hand, and it was decided that all letters bearing on the subject should be submitted at the next seasion. Great care is being taken by all concerned in the investigation to avoid the development of some particular facts. According to wait the Riverside Wheelmen were the first to npily for a sanction on June 18 and the last to get it. The State meet deal was arranged for the Harlem Wheelmen by the outside promoters at the time of the National Assembly at St. Louis when I. B. Potter was being reelected president. No date has been fixed for the next meeting of the investigating committee. Potter had not requested Wait to withdraw The figures of Secretary Abbott Bassett this The figures of Secretary Abbott Bassott this week show the total League membership to be $2,595. Last week it was $3,983, a difference of 1,448. The new applications this week number 504, compared with 1,633 in the corresponding week of last year. Riding faster than twelve miles an hour on the Coney Island eyele path is forbidden. So is teaching and riding more than two abreast, but not one of these rules is enforced. They are all printed conspicuously on a big sign at the head of the west path, and no one pays any attention to them. Because the ordinances are not enforced, it probably does not matter that nothing in them prohibits trick riding on the path; but it should be incorporated, in case some day other men should attain office and enorce the law. There are several trick riders who go down the path advertising themselves by doing "stunts" as they proceed. While they are at work no one who can help it tries to pass them, but yesterday, while one was putting in fancy touches, a tandem carrying a man and a woman came along at such a clip that the riders could not stop short when the trick rider suddenly worked over to the left-hand side of the path. The consequence was one calculated to confirm a helief in Providential justice, for the trick rider had a lad fall while the tandem whizzed cheerily along. The professional character of the man who had been "showing off" was indicated by his full-length tights and nickel-plated wheel with two steps on the forward axle, two on the rear, and extra steps on the front forks and the back stays. A tall wife, distinctly tall in comparison with other women and tall in proportion to the husband who accompanied her, was out riding yesterday. On coming home they passed inspection on lower Massau street. Probably if they had been going along the street in walking costome the disparity of their heights would have been overlooked by the busy men of the downtour streets, but some time during their trip the couple had changed bicycles, the woman using the diamond-frame machine and tie man mounting the wheel with the loop frame. The wife was comfortable and looked so. She had the proper reach, and that was something she could not get on her own wheel, no matter how high she lifted the seatpost. This was proven by the exhibition that the man made riding on the drop frame wheel with his legs never straightening any more than those of a horse that is sprung. It was plain to every one who saw them that a swap of mounts had

What is to be the future of paced racing is for—Yes, dear, I'm coming."

What is to be the future of paced racing is becoming a question of importance with those who promote bicycle meets, those who compete, and those who patronise the sport. Sufficient evidence has been adduced to show that paced racing is what the public wants. Six five-seated machines, manned by teams in uniform gliding about a three or four lap track, is wonderfully spectacular. The pleasure-seeking public that pays its money for entertainment loves the spectacular. Additional proof of this fact was not needed, but if it was it would have been furnished by the applause given to the six pacing crews of Linton, as they swung around the track in close single file on last Saturday. It being made plain what it is the public wants, the question is how to furnish it. By carrying a crew of from thirty to forty pacing men the promoters cannot make any money. They have got to win the race in order to come cut even. This is a fact admitted by all of them. Since paced racing was introduced here the game has been untowardly swift, and the limit has been placed so high that not one of the promoters can afford to stay. Instead of six five-seated machines apiece, the crack men now really need eight, or they cannot show their best speed. The men on the multicycles get tired and winded every time they carry a rider two laps. On the pacing crews everything depends. If there are six quintuplets for each man the breaking of a chain and the consequent loss of one machine becomes an immense factor, yet managers cannot afford to keep extra men to substitute for any that may be hurt or taken sick while at work. One of the greatest items of expense of they salaries and living expenses go on whether there is any race or not. The burden is proving too heavy for them to carry, while at the same time the thing most needed to make the paced cycle racing game the peer of any sport is more pace than they can get. It has been suggested that the pacemakers should be hired by the race for a uniform sum and that then on

Some time ago it was suggested by THE SUN that a bicycle police squad in Brooklyn never could prove effective until it was a distinctly organized department, as it is in Manhattan. That the plan of detailing officers from various precincts to constitute the bicycle patrol is conductive of everything except efficiency is proven by the lack of enforcement now given to any of the roadway and parkway ordinances. The Associated Cycling Clubs of Brookling recognized the facts in the case when, at their meeting on Monday night, they adopted the following:

Whereas, The police protection of the good roads in the borough of Brooklyn and the cycle path to Coney Island is gentirely inadequate, and the city ordinances as to scorching and earrying lights at night are continually being violated with impunity; and Whereas, We, the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island, feel very keenly the bad effect of this on cycling generally, desire to prevent the breach of the city ordinances and to avoid accidents to both bicycliest and pedestrians; therefore be it.

Rusolved, That it is the sense of the association that it is necessary to have a bicycle squad of the borough of Brooklyn appointed by the Police Commissioners of the city of New York on similar lines to the bicycle squad of the borough of Manhattan now existing, and that a copy of this preamble and resolution be communicated by the Beerctary of this association to the Police Commissioners of the city of New York.

A resident rider of Fifth avenue tells a story at his own expense which shows that the ratrons of bicycle academics should not be too hasty in their judgments. The man in point went to an uptown instruction hall, the proprietor of which is a colored man with an extended reputation as a trick rider as well as an instructor. He hires white men for teachers, but gives personal attention to any one who comes properly introduced or who has distinction either social or political. The rider who tells the story was introduced by an influential friend, and he was taken in hand by the proprietor. After he received his first lesson he gave a ten-cent tip to the colored man, which was calmiy pocketed. He then went to the desk and said that next time he would like to have one of the white men for his next lesson, in sublime unconsciousness that he had been receiving the attention of the proprietor. The friend who introduced him wated until both were safely out of the place and then exclaimed:

"Don't you know who that was teaching you? Why, that is 80-and-So, who gets $5 a lesson at Newport!"

"I felt so cheap about the ten-cent tip and the Newport!"

"I felt so cheap about the ten-cent tip and the Tielt so cheap about the ten-cent tip and the protest I made that I never went back for a second lesson," concluded the man. "The worst of it all was that I was travelling on a free pass, entitling me to take lessons until I was proficient. I went to another place to get my instruction, but I am trying to get even by sending So-and-So all the customers I can."

This season the Maidstone Golf Club of Eastampton has an eighteen-hole course of over 5.000 yards, nine holes on each side of the lake. 5.000 yards, nine holes on each side of the lake, and extending over the ground near the tennis courts at the clubbouse to the sand drives close to the sea. The season is well under way and there is a large number on the links on every fine day. Play is now in progress to qualify for the Wheelock Cup, and on Saturday the meet in the preliminary round for the cup presented by Miss Eidlitz. The following is a list of the cup competitions during the month and in August:

W. A. Wieslock Cup, hadden, medal, play to Aug.

rain a team match was played yesterday after noon between the Essex County Country Club and the Norwood Park Fleid Club of Long Branch on the links of the former at Hutton Park. Orange. The course is a very sporty one, and as the visitors were not used to it they were badly beaten. The score:
